

5 Common Core Tips for Parents

Common Core Standards are a set of academic skills that each student is expected to learn for their grade-level.

Here are five tips to help your child master their common core standards successfully.

1. Use post it stickers when helping to teach kids to ask questions and write down their inquiries about a topic or concept in language arts, science, math, etc. They can write down their thoughts, post it, and research the answers.
2. Use thinking maps to help build complete thoughts and sentences with your child.
3. Ask your child more in-depth questions when dealing with comprehension lessons or curriculum. For example; how? and why? questions.
4. As your child completes their homework, assess whether or not they clearly understand the concept that is being presented.
5. Allow your child to draw a visual before completing their writing assignment. Children can write on a deeper level when they are able to visually see the details that they created before actually engaging in the writing process.

Hope these are helpful. Stay tuned for more Common Core Standard tips in the future from the Dill Purple Geniuses!